ORAL JUDGEMENT (Per Panchal, J.)

#. Both these appeals, which are instituted under Clause 15 of the Letters Patent, are directed against judgment dated August 21, 1996, rendered by the learned Single Judge in Special Civil Application No.2396 of 1993. As the appeals involve determination of common questions of facts and law, we propose to dispose them of by this common judgment.

#. The appellant in Letters Patent Appeal 1203 of 1996 is the original petitioner. He is the owner of premises bearing Block No.VI of Stadium House, at Navrangpura, Ahmedabad. An area admeasuring 118.16 sq. metres was let out by the original petitioner to respondent No.2 for the use of respondent No.1 under a lease deed dated June 15, 1975 at the rate of Rs.1.25 per sq. feet. The Directorate of Estates, Government of India, issued office memorandum dated July 10, 1972 stipulating that the reasonable rent should not be enhanced unless and until the lease was determined and certain conditions were fulfilled. On expiry of period of lease, the lease was terminated by the original petitioner and the lessee was called upon to revise the rent. However, no steps were taken by the lessee for the purpose of revising the rent. Yet another office memorandum dated September 1, 1982 was issued by the Directorate of Estates, Government of India stipulating that the rent should be got reassessed from the Central Public Works Department ('CPWD' for short) on the expiry of period l of five years from the date of original assessment and after every five years thereafter. According to the petitioner, though certificate dated September 9, 1988 and other certificates were issued by the CPWD, the rent was not revised by the Central Excise and Customs Department. Under the circumstances, the petitioner instituted Special Civil Application No.2396 of 1993 and prayed the Court to issue a writ of mandamus directing the respondents to approach CPWD for reassessment of the rent of the property in question for the period from 1982 to August 31, 1987 and to pay reasonable market rent assessed by the CPWD. The petitioner further prayed to direct the respondents to execute a lease deed with effect from September 1, 1987 and to make the payment of rent at the revised rate of Rs.6359/- per month. The petitioner also prayed to direct the respondents to reassess rent or to get it reassessed through CPWD for the period from 1992 to 1997 and to make the payment according to that new assessment

from September 1, 1992 till the expiration of five years.

#. Record of the case does not indicate that any reply was filed by the original respondents controverting the averments made in the petition.

#. The learned Single Judge, taking into consideration different certificates issued by the CPWD, has directed the respondents to pay rent to the petitioner for the period from 1982-87 at the rate of Rs.3851/- after making adjustment of the amount paid in excess or short pursuant to interim directions issued in the petition. This direction is challenged by the Central Excise and Customs Department as well as Union of India in Letters Patent Appeal No.1312 of 1996, whereas the original petition has challenged that part of the judgment by which prayer made by him to direct the respondents to pay arrears of rent with interest is rejected by the learned Single Judge.

#. We have heard learned counsel for the parties at length. The submission that the claim for rent from 1982 to 1987 is barred by principles of delay and laches and, therefore, the impugned judgment should be set aside has no merits. Though the power under Article 226 to issue an appropriate writ is discretionary and inordinate delay in making the motion for a writ may be adequate ground for refusing to exercise the discretion, it is well settled that no hard and fast rule can be laid down as to when the High Court should refuse to exercise its jurisdiction in favour of a party who moves it after considerable delay and question of exercise of discretion has to be decided in view of the facts of each case. It is relevant to notice that the revision of rent was dependent on the assessment which was to be made by CPWD and CPWD made the assessment for the first on October 24, 1994. Though the original petitioner had made application dated September 21, 1981, requesting the department to revise the rent as per office memorandum of 1972, no action at all was taken by the department in terms of the said office memorandum. Thereafter, office memorandum dated September 1, 1982 was issued by Directorate of Estates, Government of India, directing the departments concerned to revise the rent on fulfilment of certain conditions. Even thereafter, no steps were taken by the department either to revise the rent or to get reasonable rent assessed by CPWD. The CPWD assessed the rent for the first time on October 24, 1994, after filing of the petition. Under the circumstances, it cannot be said that there was any delay on the part of the original petitioner in approaching the Court. The learned Single Judge while dealing with the submission advanced by the learned Additional Central Government Standing Counsel regarding delay and laches in filing the petition has adverted to several reported decision of the Supreme Court on the point and held that there is no justification in refusing relief of reasonable rent to the original petitioner on the basis of certificate which was issued in the year 1994 for the period from 1982 to 1987. We are in complete agreement with the view expressed by the learned Single Judge and we hold that the learned Single Judge was justified in entertaining the prayer made by the petitioner for refusing the rent for the period from September 1, 1982 to August 31, 1987.

#. The contention that the High Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution in view of the provisions of Section 28 of the Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act, 1947, cannot be accepted. Article 226 not being one of those provisions of the Constitution which may be changed by ordinary legislation, the powers under Article 226 cannot be taken away or curtailed by any legislation short of amendment of the Constitution. It is well settled the even where a statutory provision bars the jurisdiction of Courts, generally, it will not bar the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226. Having regard to the facts of the case, it cannot be said that there was inherent lack of jurisdiction in entertaining petition filed by the petitioner under Article 226 of the Constitution and, therefore, the plea that the impugned judgment should be set aside as the High Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the petition under Article 226 will have to be rejected and is hereby rejected.

#. The plea that in view of the alternative remedy available under the provisions of the Bombay Rents, Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act, 1947, the petition should not have been entertained and the petitioner should have been relegated to the alternative remedy available to him under the said Act also cannot be accepted at this stage. It may be stated that another owner of the premises had filed Special Civil Application No.6435 of 1991 claiming similar such relief and therein notice was ordered to be issued to the respondents, i.e. the department, at the admission stage. The department had filed reply contesting the petition, inter alia, on the ground that alternative remedy was available under the Rent Act and, therefore, the petition should not be entertained. However, after hearing the learned counsel for the parties at length, the learned Single Judge had thought it fit to issue Rule and had entertained the petition. Thereafter, Special Civil Application No.2396 of 1993, out of which Letters Patent Appeal No.1312 of 1996 arises, was placed for admission hearing and as petition involving similar question was admitted earlier, this petition was also admitted and Rule was issued therein. It is well settled that once the petition is admitted, it should not be rejected on the ground that alternative remedy is available to the petitioner (see Hirday Narain v. Income Tax Officer, Bareilly, AIR 1971 SC 33, paragraph 12). The petition filed by the original petitioner was not only entertained by the learned Single Judge, but was heard on merits of the case. Moreover, with reference to Special Civil Application No.2398 of 1993, the Enforcement Directorate had addressed a letter dated March 19, 1996 to the Additional Central Government Standing Counsel and requested him to bring to the notice of the Court instructions contained in the said letter. By the said letter, the department had shown its readiness and willingness to pay rent based on recognized principle of valuation as per the Government's usual practice in this regard, i.e. Rs.6600/- per month with effect from June 13, 1987 and Rs.12,440/- per month with effect from June 13, 1992 and had left the matter specifically to the decision of the High Court. When the department had agreed to pay revised rent on the basis of recognized principle of valuation from June 13, 1987 and subsequently from June 13, 1992, it would have been unreasonable to relegate the original petitioner to alternative remedy available to him under the Rent Act for the purpose of revision of rent from September 1, 1982 to August 31, 1987. Having regard to all these circumstances, we are of the opinion that no error was committed by the learned Single Judge in entertaining the petition on merits, though plea of alternative remedy was available under the Rent Act was raised.

#. The submission that the learned Single Judge should not have determined rent after taking average of two figures mentioned in the certificate dated October 24, 1994 and, therefore, the impugned judgment should be set aside cannot be accepted. It may be stated that in Special Civil Application No.2398 of 1993, the Enforcement Directorate had addressed a letter dated March 19, 1996 to the learned Additional Central Government Standing Counsel instructing him to bring to the notice of the Court the decision of the department in the matter. In the said letter, it was specifically mentioned that the department was agreeable to pay the rent based on recognized principle of valuation as per

Government's usual practice in this regard, i.e. Rs.6600/- per month with effect from June 13, 1987 and Rs.12,440/- per month with effect from June 13, 1992. Determination of rent was specifically left to the Court. The learned Single Judge has taken into consideration the contents of the certificate dated October 24, 1994 and determined rent for the period from 1982 to 1987 after taking average of two figures mentioned in the said certificate. This method of determination of rent cannot be said to be illegal or arbitrary or unreasonable in any manner so as to warrant interference of the Court in the present appeal. Therefore, impugned judgment is not liable to be interfered with on the ground that the learned Single Judge has committed error in taking average of two figures mentioned in the certificate for determining the rent.

#. Thus, we do not find any substance in any of the contentions urged on behalf of the appellants in Letters Patent Appeal No.1312 of 1996 and the same is liable to be dismissed.

##. So far as appeal filed by the owner of the property claiming interest on arrears of rent is concerned, we find that the learned Single Judge has exercised discretion of not granting interest to the owner of the property for arrears of rent. The exercise of the discretion cannot be said to be unreasonable or arbitrary so as to warrant interference by this Court in the appeal. In fact, the department could not pay the revised amount of rent because of non-availability of certificate from CPWD for which the department cannot be penalized. Having regard to the fair stand which was taken by the department, as is reflected in its letter dated March 19, 1996, we are of the opinion that the learned Single Judge was justified in not entertaining the prayer made by the owner of the property to direct the respondents to pay arrears of rent with interest. On overall view of the matter, we do not think that any error is committed by the learned Single Judge in not awarding interest to the owner of the property so far as arrears of rent are concerned. Under the circumstances, Letters Patent Appeal No.1203 of 1996 filed by the owner of the property claiming interest is also liable to be dismissed.

#. For the foregoing reasons, both the appeals fail and are dismissed with no orders as to costs.
